WASHINGTON, DC AIR SHOW

May 15, 2010

Every year the Pentagon puts on a dazzling show of air mastery by the military services at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington. Enjoy a terrific spectacle scheduled to include the legendary Navy Blue Angels performing amazing maneuvers, the amazing GEICO Skytypers, and the Army Golden Knight precision paratroopers, among many other aerial performers. It's a breathtaking show you will never forget!

Come with us this Saturday to Andrews Air Force Base (the home of Air Force One) southeast of Washington for a thundering demonstration of aerial grace and power! Every year, the Department of Defense presents the Joint Service Open House Air Show to give all services the chance to display their mastery of the air. Among many performers scheduled to appear this year are the legendary US Navy Blue Angels aerial acrobatic team, the US Army Golden Knights precision freefall parachute team and the GEICO Skytypers, who employ WW II aircraft for precision formation flying. We will head first to the nearby FedEx field, from which you will be shuttled to the base for an unforgettable show. Bring sunglasses, sunscreen, and a neck that goes backwards to witness pilots of marvelous skill slip the "surly bonds of earth." Return home awestruck, with expected arrival in Hunt Valley at 6:50 PM, Shrewsbury 7:10 PM, York 7:30 PM, and Red Lion 8:00 PM.
