

PHILADELPHIA MUSEUM OF ART

June 13, 2010

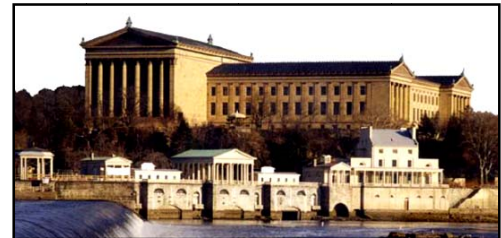

This great tour to Philly heads first to the Rodin Museum to see famous sculptures, explores the awesome Philadelphia Museum of Art, and tours the delightful Water Works. It's mind-expanding Philly fun!

Heading to Philadelphia's Fairmount Park area, cross the Schuylkill and proceed to the Rodin Museum, home of the largest public collection outside Paris of works by the great sculptor Auguste Rodin. Discover a tranquil garden, greet the world-famous "Thinker" as you stroll toward an entrance guarded by the "Gates of Hell," and delight in a guided tour inside the museum of casts of many of the sculptor's best-known works. A few blocks away, enjoy admission to the awesome Philadelphia Museum of Art, one of America's largest museums, with a collection spanning thousands of years of Western and Asian art. Among museum marvels are Impressionist masterpieces, an Indian temple hall, a Japanese tea house, the second largest collection of arms and armor in America, renowned collections of prints, photos, and drawings, and collections of American, modern, and contemporary art that are among the finest in the country. Part of the museum's collection can be viewed in dramatic new galleries across the street in the impressive Perelman Building, to which you also have access.

The Thinker

When you get hungry, put a $10 Cafeteria Voucher to good use in the Museum Cafe. (The museum does not give change for the voucher.) At 2:45 PM, embark on a guided tour of the nearby Water Works. Delight in a technological wonder that pumped Philly's water until 1909, making the city a leader in water system design and attracting amazed visitors like Charles Dickens from around the world. (The waterworks tour lasts about 90 minutes; it is held if weather permits and involves some stairs.) Return home from Fairmount Park after an unforgettable day, with expected arrival in Lancaster at 6:45 PM, York 7:30 PM, Red Lion 8:00 PM.
